

SELF REFLECTION REPORT ON FACING INTERVIEWS

This reflection report aims to the analysis of the participation of mine for the session on Interview Facing Skills by Virtusa, held on 25th May 2021. The point of writing this report is to include my thoughts and summary of the session. During the session, sir discussed how to attend an online interview in this pandemic season and how to prove that we are the right fit for the position in the interview.

Facing Interviews is what we all have done or what we are going to do. Although facing an interview is a tough task for all of us, we can come out successfully if we follow certain tactics and maintain cool composure. In this pandemic situation sometimes we have to face online interviews as well. There are many things we have to consider when facing online interviews.

- 1) Choosing the correct and stable infrastructure.
- 2) Dress well, be professional and look decent.
- 3) Have eye contact with the interviewer.
- 4) Research company background and job role.
- 5) Rest well before you join the interview

The above report reflects how to face an interview online, which was explained by sir during the session. Each undergraduate should understand the interview facing tips for their professional life.